Abengoa appoints new managers for Strategic Development and Finance Departments

- Amando Sánchez Falcón, to date CFO of the company, will now be responsible for Strategic Development. The new CFO will be Vicente Jorro de Inza, who was previously finance manager of the concessions area.
- Javier Camacho Donézar is stepping down as manager of the Strategic Development Department in order to head up the Marine Energy business.

Seville, October 13, 2011.- Abengoa, the international company that applies innovative technology solutions for sustainable development in the energy and environment sectors, has restructured the management of its Strategic Development and Finance departments, as well as strengthening its Marine Energy area, with the appointment of new managers.

Javier Camacho Donézar, who was previously Strategic Development Manager, will now be responsible for the Marine Energy business, one of the areas in which the company is investing in R&D+i.

In addition, Amando Sánchez Falcón, to date CFO of Abengoa, will now head up the company's Strategic Development Department.

Lastly, Vicente Jorro de Inza, currently the Finance Manager of the Concessions area, will take over from Amando Sánchez Falcón as the new CFO of the company.

The company is making these changes to adapt and strengthen its organizational structure in order to tackle the new challenges and opportunities that arise.
