

Abengoa receives recognition in health and safety from Teck

- This is a sign of the company's commitment to the health and safety of its workers at the Quebrada Blanca mine project, phase 2, in Chile.

September 13th, 2021 - Abengoa, an international company that applies innovative technology solutions for sustainable development in the infrastructure, energy and water sectors, has been recognized by the natural resources company Teck, its client in the Quebrada Blanca mine project, phase 2, located in the Tarapacá Region, in northern Chile, where Abengoa is developing the engineering, procurement and construction of seven 220 kV electrical substations.

This award has been granted by Teck's Joint Committee to Abengoa's Joint Health and Safety Committee, thanks to its leadership and constant commitment in the control of operational risks and contribution to preventive management.

Specifically, its contribution to occupational health and safety has been recognized for its dedication and collaborative work for the benefit of its workers during the development of the COVID-19 pandemic. All this, thanks to the company's commitment to the safety and health of its entire team and the compliance with the preventive, awareness and control measures carried out.

Abengoa received the award on Monday, September 13, from Luis Veas, representative of Teck, who presented it to Héctor Núñez Quezada, president of the project's Joint Committee.
