

Telvent's advanced natural gas measurement improves NiSource business operations on more than 15,000 miles of pipeline

NiSource selects Telvent for consolidation of gas measurement systems to gain efficiency and improve transmission business performance

February 23, 2010 - Telvent (NASDAQ: TLVT), the IT company for a sustainable and secure world, announced today a solution award from NiSource, a leading North American energy company. Telvent will improve transportation management of over one trillion cubic feet of natural gas annually for NiSource's Columbia Transmission and Columbia Gulf Transmission divisions.

Columbia Gas Transmission and Columbia Gulf Transmission operate gas transmission networks extending from the Gulf Coast through the Midwest to the Northeast United States. A single, universal Telvent measurement solution will improve efficiency of commodity measurement on more than 15,000 miles of interstate natural gas pipeline.

Telvent's advanced Gas Suite and Sightline UGI (Universal Gas Interface) products will replace three disparate legacy measurement systems. Gas Suite dramatically improves the certainty and business value of all measurements. The comprehensive system supports all aspects of enterprise gas management. Business processes influenced by Gas Suite include: collection, validation, adjustment, balancing, and accounting pre-processing.

"This project helps NiSource improve efficiencies and profitability," said Manuel Sánchez Ortega, Telvent's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "We are proud to be their partner with our advanced applications, so they can deliver reliable service to their customers."

Telvent has been working with NiSource for nearly 20 years – contributing to the improvement of its gas pipeline operations for transmission and distribution through application of Telvent smart information systems. Telvent's customers are responsible for more than half of the natural gas gathered and transmitted in the United States.
